A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Maine.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the joints are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one.

Mrs. E. G. Carver, 98 Oak St., Lewiston, Me., says:—"For about two weeks last January I had such an acute attack of pain in the back that when stooping or lifting I was in misery. Reading about Doane's Kidney Pills I got a box at a drug store. They helped me from the first and I continued taking them until the pain and lameness disappeared. I am now free from these troubles, and give all the credit to Doane's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doane's—and no other."

The Lone Pine.

Alone you stand, serene and calm, With brave undaunted air; Immured in sea and storm, I wonder if you care. Friends and companions all are gone, The axe has laid them low, And left you standing there alone, I wonder if you know. You lift your head serene and fair, And send a helpful hand For all the voyagers of the air. A lonely you stand.

Companions that around you grew, Are gone we know not where, I wonder if it troubles you, I wonder if you care. Were I in your place old Lone Pine, Surest of all I love, I'd set up such an awful howl, They'd hear me up above.

Only a Baby.

Only a little baby, With hair like fine spun gold, And eyes blue as skies in summer, But oh, how dark they could hold! They had stood by the cradle and rocked it all day, and they had waited the sweet smiles linger, Hoped she would ever keep. Now the plans must be laid away, Just like the dresses and stockings, For the baby is dead. Now, they stood by its little cradle, And wept, low sweet, and they sang, Her tiny hand was clasping, And noted the press of each finger. And while the soft breath was departing, Not to come on this earth again, While tears from each eye were falling, Tears of their A. Libby, secretary. Our lives they said must be gentle, Would we strive to meet her there In the "home of our millions," In the city eternal and fair?

It was only a little baby, Only a piece of clay, It looked like a piece of waxwork there, So still in its cradle it lay. They had noted its merry prattle, Though it could not lip a word, Giggled, was all content, But 'twas happy as any bird. Only a little baby, While a mother's heart was broken, While the gold from life seemed fled; Only a few sweet flowers, Only an empty cradle, Is that all for the babe we called ours? Nay, nay, though the flower has faded, We dwell on its perfume still, And we sigh, low sweet, while it lasted, So I think we always will; There's the empty cradle to mock us, And a grave where the white flowers sing, But there are a thousand lovely memories To our babe in heaven only. DANA HARLOWE.

Prize Numerical Enigma.

The answer contains 47 letters and is a good old adage.

1, 20, 35, 10, is to kill.
7, 11, 13, 31, is a sign.
2, 4, 5, 41, is most good.
20, 15, 4, is a whip.
21, 9, 35, 36, is a small distance.
20, 15, 4, is to stop.
23, 15, 33, 43, is a short letter.
32, 2, 24, 34, is to hope.
3, 24, 14, is to disappoint.
40, 43, 23, 3, is a part of the leg.
44, 45, 28, 29, is a maiden.
7, 12, 9, 27, is a burden.

Now do not set down girl, lass or miss for maiden, nor stay for to stop, nor yard or road for a short distance. The proverb consists of fourteen words which I am quite sure you will be able to find.

No prizes are offered for the answer and no stamps are called for but the name of each solver sending the correct answer will be printed. The answer to the enigma printed in the Advertiser of May 1st is: "It is a good thing to learn caution by the misfortunes of others." The correct solution was sent by:

Edna McKee, West Bethel, Florence R. Garner, Keegan Falls, Elsie Holman, South Paris, E. L. Holmes, Norway, Umbagog, Upton, Mrs. F. W. Ham, West Medford, Mass.

Answers should always be sent within two weeks from the date of the papers in which they appear, and sent to P. O. box 55. PUZZLER.

Sebastian Rale was one of the most famous and successful of all Jesuit missionaries sent to ancient Acadia by Paul de LaSalle, who was at the head of the Society of Jesus in his great efforts to convert the Indians of the New World. He was at the head of the Kennebec Mission, located at what is now the town of Norridgewock, in the State of Maine, and upon territory that was claimed after the treaty of Utrecht by both the English and French Governments. In 1724 Rale and the most of his dusky followers were killed by the English colonists from Massachusetts, and his church and chapels and the Indian village were destroyed by fire. Sebastian Rale was one of the most remarkable men and strongest characters that appear in the early history of New England. The writer is Hon. John F. Sprague, lawyer, farmer and student of Monson. Mr. Sprague has written an interesting account of this Maine tragedy. He has spent much time in looking up his authorities and has collected his account from both sides of the controversy.

The alumni dinner was at Ingalls hall, and the centennial exercises began at 3 o'clock Tuesday with the laying of the corner stone for the new dormitory for girls. This will replace a similar structure which was destroyed by fire in 1896. Joseph F. Chute of Portland presided and the exercises opened with a prayer by Rev. George Lewis of South Berwick. A musical selection followed and then Prof. D. O. St. Lowell of Dorchester, Mass., gave an address on "The Grooves of Change." Prof. Lowell is an eloquent speaker and he was listened to with the closest attention. Mrs. Grace Bray Pugsley of Melrose Highlands, Mass., read a poem written for the occasion, and then came an interesting sketch by Llewellyn Barton, esq., of Portland, entitled "The Academy Buildings and Their Associations." The ode was by Florence M. Whitney of North Turner and was sung to the air of "Then You'll Remember Me."

Wednesday, the principal features were the address by Hon. Melville E. Ingalls, the historical address by Hon. James Carver Mead and the centennial poem by Prof. Isaac B. Chute of Boston. The commencement concert was by Alexander Dennett, reader, of Lewiston, Harry Merrill, soloist, and Chandler's Band of Portland; Mrs. Sadie W. Scribner of Harrison, accompanist. There was a xylophone and violin solo. Mrs. F. P. Hazen.

In the evening the band gave a concert on the campus and this was followed by social and literary exercises at Academy hall, with Charles S. Jordan of Raymond presiding. A reading was given by Agnes W. Baker of Jamaica Plains, Mass., and there was a discussion on "The New England Academy in Our Educational System." The discussion was opened by J. R. Moody of Auburn, principal of the academy from 1878 to 1887. Other speakers were: Fairfield Whitney, superintendent of schools, Townsend, Mass.; Principal Z. Willis Kemp of Sanborn academy, Kingston, N. H.; Supt. E. J. Chase of Rumford Falls; C. A. Record, superintendent of schools, Bridgewater, Mass.; Mary Frances Farnham, dean of women, Pacific University, Forest Grove, Oregon; Leslie F. Jordan, '08, favored the audience with a declamation, and the exercises closed with the reading of "The Journal," of which Mrs. Hattie Hancock Edridge of Boston was editor and C. A. Record of Bridgewater, editor. At the centennial dinner, Samuel Smith of Harrison acted as toastmaster.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Young-Rounds.

A notably happy social event of the past week was the wedding on Saturday, June 27, at the residence of Mrs. Augusta Elizabeth Young, of her daughter, Dora Mildred Young, to Lawrence Rexford Rounds. The wedding parties are natives and life-long residents of this town and both intimately associated with its civic and educational progress. Mrs. Rounds is widely known and esteemed for her accomplishments in music as performer and teacher. Mr. Rounds is a prominent merchant at the Center village, and is a leader in our society.

The bridal apartments were most elaborately adorned with floral and evergreen decorations, the principal one being an arch constructed of garlands of red and white roses in profusion, very artistically displayed. From the apex of the arch was suspended a large floral bell, under which the bridal pair received the sacred rites uniting them in chosen wedlock. The clerical service was by Rev. H. A. Markley of Turner.

Emmie and Blanche Young, sisters of the bride, were maids of honor. The gifts to the new bride were very beautiful and costly, consisting of valuable gold coins, elegant silver and crystal ware, a beautiful chifonier and wicker chair, fine articles of napery and handsome specimens of the jeweler's art.

Children's Day.
Saturday, Children's day of the local Grange was observed with interesting and appropriate exercises at Union hall, under the direction of the three nearly schools, the East Chatham, Green Hill and West Fryeburg, viz: Hattie Woodward, Ethel Gullitt and Hazel West.
The opening exercise was a piano solo by Lella Shirley, followed by a chorus by the East Chatham school, a recitation by Emily Flint, singing by Green Hill school, recitation by Marjorie McIntire, singing by the West Fryeburg school, motion song by the boys of the East Chatham school, flag exercise by Green Hill school, recitation by Ora J. Hill, piano duet by Lella Shirley and Emily Flint, song by West Fryeburg school, dialogue by Clifton and Roy Hill.
At the close of the program, Lella Shirley, presiding at the piano, rendered "Marching Through Georgia," while Ralph Shirley and Marjorie McIntire led the pupils of the United schools in a grand march about the hall and into the banquet room where all were beautifully served with ice cream, cake and bananas.
After the feast the boys retired to the field for a game of base ball while the girls amused themselves with playing games and dancing. There were decorations of field and garden flowers and the star banded banner was conspicuously in evidence in recognition of the occasion.
A very pretty compliment, which might serve as an object lesson in veneration to age, was the invitation extended to Mrs. Sarah J. McIntire of all Fryeburg and Mrs. Amanda Kelley of East Chatham, both of whom were present and received every attention and care for their enjoyment. The ladies are both well along on the fourscore period of passing years. Mrs. Kelley is a life long resident and Mrs. McIntire came to her home in this section in her youth as a bride.

beautifully situated overlooking Upper Kimball pond. Carpenters, all winter and spring in the construction and finishing of this tasteful and convenient summer home, under the direction of Geo. B. Hill of South Chatham.

week.

The grasshoppers are destroying the crops. They work on the grass and beans and gardens, and together with the drought there will be smaller crop of hay and beans than has been known for years.

Strawberries are very plenty in this vicinity.

Mrs. E. H. McAllister remains about the same.

husband, Leroy Boynton, a son by a former marriage, Milroy Warren, her father, a sister, Mrs. C. E. Smith of Denmark; and a brother, Albert Chadbourne of Waterville, to mourn their loss. Interment these things at once.

Apple crop in this vicinity will be a failure. Potato bugs are plenty and it looks as though we should get a good crop, also the rose bugs will strip what the potato bugs leave.

I hope the who have pine timber growing will not be frightened in the least about the report that is going around. I hope the reader will remember that pines seed only once in seven years and this is the year for them to seed, and whenever the year of seeding comes you will see tips of many limbs fade and drop. I have noticed this more or less all my days.

Bitters in our family for twenty years or more, always with good results."

Yours truly, Mrs. Cyrus Wilson.

CURE RHEUMATISM NOW.
This is the Best Time to Get Rid of the Disease.

Of all seasons in the year none is better than the present for the treatment and cure of rheumatism. While Neuralgic Anodyne is an unfailing cure for rheumatism at any season of the year, it will do good twice as quickly this month.

The Anodyne has a peculiar action, soaking through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves so that it does far more good than any ordinary local application.
At the same time, a small dose is taken internally which soothes and quiets the whole nervous system, and helps expel the Uric Acid from the blood.

Neuralgic Anodyne is so successful in curing rheumatism, neuralgia, headaches, toothaches, and all nervous and muscular pains, that dealers everywhere are authorized to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

A large-sized bottle costs 25c. The
